Dear Customer,

We have been in business for 42 years, publishing books for children and books for teachers, and participating in professional development work.

From the very beginning we have focused on child-centered, meaning-centered approaches to learning and teaching.

For one reason.

We want to help teachers and parents nurture joyful learners eager to find meaning in print.

What we learned about language as infants and toddlers continues to influence us as we learn about print and about language in other forms.

Please check out our books, many with long histories. Because they still have value.

And visit the Parent pages on our website to explore The Literacy Gallery for many episodes of parent and other caregiver supports for children. Click on the Parents tab near the top of the screen to spend time on the site. It is unique and it is free.

While there, please subscribe so we can keep you informed about our activities and books.

We are happy to have you with us. Take a look around and let us know what you think.

Best wishes,

Richard Owen and Friends

The end!

12

Claire Livesey is an author. She was a children's librarian for sixteen years. She is now retired, but continues to write stories for children.

Viki Woodworth is an author and an illustrator. Her many children's books include Can You Grow a Popsicle? and Have You Seen an Elephant's Nest? Viki lives in Seattle, Washington, with her husband and two daughters.

Nonfiction Note

Poliwogs hatch from eggs laid by frogs. When polliwogs grow legs and begin to look like frogs, they are called froglets. When the tail of a froglet disappears it becomes an adult frog. Polliwogs are also called tadpoles.

word count: 91

Don't end with Our Polliwogs. This is just one of the many fun, entertaining, engaging, and informative stories in the Books for Young Learners collection. More surprises await!

INFORMATIONAL - NONFICTION

Text designed to convey factual information, rather than tell or advance a narrative.

Many of our informational books offer a distinctive narrative nonfiction quality, which builds on a child's familiarity with story while introducing content. This transition text supports a student without total immersion in the demands of expository prose. The higher level vocabulary and exquisite illustrations and photos make our BYL books very special.

For INFORMATIONAL titles that are author autobiographies for grades 2-7, refer to MEET THE AUTHOR and AUTHOR AT WORK collections on pages 20, 21.

BOOKS FOR YOUNG LEARNERS PK-3

Diversity

Whether we speak of diversity or inclusion, our goal is the same – to offer stories that expand the world of children through characters who are similar to, and different from, the reader. We want to introduce children to people and groups and cultures they may be unfamiliar with to help them recognize the similarities and appreciate the differences.

We want to give children something to think about. In many of our books, messages of value reveal depth to the stories. We all have something to learn from each other.

We have organized the books in these packages by Fountas and Pinnell levels, so they generally cover kindergarten, grade 1 and grade 2.

Our books reflect diversity in:

- Ethnicity
- Skin color
- Lifestyles
- Customs
- Abilities
- Races
- Cultural groups
- Family
- Traditions
- Gender role

TRADITIONAL LITERATURE

Stories that have been around forever. Or so it seems. Many traditional stories started by being passed from person to person, generation to generation, and only later came to be written. The stories deal with fundamental values, and often offer guidance on how to live an honorable life.

Several Books for Young Learners (BYL) authors have contributed retellings of fables, folktales, and legends that draw on the characteristics of the genres. When possible we have incorporated a reference to the cultural origins for the books in this collection.

Use the books to gain insight into the diverse communities that produced the stories. Or consider using some of the books as sources for storytelling. A great resource to help teachers is Children Tell Stories 2/e by Martha Hamilton and Mitch Weiss (see Professional Books on page 24).

AUTHOR AT WORK is a little more advanced in reading level and complexity than the MEET THE AUTHOR collection with more sophisticated rich text, in 64-page, softcover books that explore the various phases of the writing process through the author's personal writing experience, insights, tips, and demonstrations.

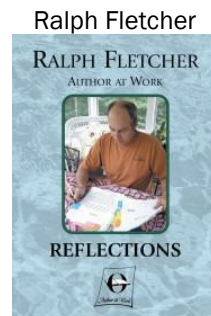

Each author emphasizes those aspects most important to him or her. Some may focus on topic selection, others will dig into drafting, and other authors might put more energy into revision. In each case the reader is provided multiple opportunities to directly apply the author's experience to their own writing.

Our Alphabet Card is a tool for helping primary grade children as they learn to write. It helps them form letters and make sound/letter associations stronger.

Images on the Alphabet Card have been carefully researched and tested. The font most closely replicates actual handwriting rather than book print. Three digraphs are included – “ch,” “sh,” and “th,” – which are the most commonly used by primary grade writers.

Trim size of the card (7" x 9.5") was established so children can handle it while writing at their desks; it also fits into their notebooks. The “poster” version, for teacher demonstration purposes, folds out to twice the size of the student version. Both are printed on sturdy, laminated stock.

PROFESSIONAL BOOKS

Our professional books are written by experienced and knowledgeable educators in their field. The books are timeless and relevant for today's schools and classrooms. Visit our website for details and FREE chapter downloads. Home study courses for college credit are available on select titles. Look for the ArmchairEd logo.

NEW! If any book can be described as a foundation for teaching, Made for Learning is that book. Regie Routman said, "Once in a great while a book comes along that upends our thinking – challenging us to critically examine the effects of our literacy beliefs, practices, and processes around teaching and learning. Made for Learning is that breakthrough book."
